Foreword

We are pleased to present to you the 1984 Mennonite Yearbook, the organizational and statistical record of the Mennonite Church in North America. This volume reflects the life of the church as it is found in its congregational, area, district, conference, state/provincial, continental, and worldwide expressions.

In 1984 we are well into the second century of organized mission work throughout the world. (The Mennonite Evangelizing Committee, forerunner of the Mennonite Board of Missions, was organized in 1882.) Wilbert R. Shenk, vice-president for overseas missions of Mennonite Board of Missions, has written for us the historical article, "One Hundred Years of Missions," in which he traces the roots, developments, and the current status of missions in the life of the Mennonite Church today. He reminds us that it is God who builds the church and that the church must be willing to be converted by the same gospel as it proclaims to others.

Ivan Kauffmann, executive secretary of the Mennonite Church General Board, in the article "the Mennonite Church, 1984" helps us to reflect upon the historic event (joint meeting of the Mennonite Church and the General Conference Mennonite Church of North America) which occurred in Bethlehem, Pennsylvania, in 1983. He reports to us significant actions adopted by the Assembly, at this 300th anniversary year, to guide the life, faith, and ministry of the Mennonite Church in the future.

The basic features of the Yearbook continue. However, as with each issue, we seek to reflect the life of the church in a way that is helpful to all our readers. As you page through this volume you will note several changes which we think make this a more useful resource for your participation and ministry in the life of the church. Changes include the following:

First: The "Geographical Directory of Congregations" replaces the Regional Directory. Congregations are now listed by country (Canada, United States, and other countries); then subdivided alphabetically by state/province and city. Included in the directory is information regarding the location of the meetinghouse. This change in organization is the direct result of the action of the Mennonite Church General Assembly that removed the region as an integral part of the organizational structure of the church. Along with conferences and districts are included other Mennonite bodies as well as two groups (Beachy Amish and Eastern Pennsylvania) not included heretofore. Thus the total Mennonite reality is a bit more accurately reflected in the directory this year.

Second: In the Conference Directory you will find two new area affiliations—Chicago Area Mennonites (CH) and the Philadelphia Mennonite Council (PH). These reflect the growing development of the church to organize itself for ministry in the urban areas. In the General Information and Statistics section of each conference you will note fuller detail in reporting membership, congregations, and the ministerial body. New data this year includes such items as the conference community, which is the total number of persons involved in the life of the church, members, and nonmembers, children and adults, the full membership, which includes the members who hold affiliation with another denominational body or congregation; and the number of households, which records the number of family units involved in the life of the church. These are unique breakdowns and were developed to meet the information needs of the Yearbook of American and Canadian Churches, as well as Mennonite Church conference and churchwide leaders. In the congregational listing you will find an address and telephone number on the line immediately below the name. This is the official address and telephone of the congregation. It is to be used when making a direct telephone or mail contact.

Third: In the Directory of Overseas Mennonite Churches you will note that the congregations and their ministers are no longer listed here or in the Ministerial Directory. This was done in order to reduce space needs as well as to tilt the Yearbook in the direction of a directory for the North American Mennonite Church. Leadership and statistics of these overseas bodies were retained in order to reflect our fraternal ties with believers around the world.

Fourth: In the Directory of Mennonite Church Organizations you will note a) the expansion of the Choice Books listings in Media Programs. b) The creation of the new Inter-Mennonite listing, Mennonite Health and Human Services, under which is included all of the health and welfare listings formerly listed under the Mennonite Board of Missions. Entries from all Mennonite bodies are also included in order to reflect the broad scope of the Mennonite Health Assembly membership. c) The Overseas Mennonite Programs listing has been compressed slightly by including only the names of MC workers in the Mennonite Central Committee programs. d) Maps have been added to the MMAA listing in order to help readers visualize the

The Mennonite Church 1984

By Ivan Kauffmann

The Bethlehem 83 event, which was held August 1-7, 1983, on the campus of Lehigh University at Bethlehem, Pennsylvania, marked the 300th anniversary of the first permanent Mennonite settlement in North America at Germantown, Pennsylvania. Seven thousand one hundred and seventy people—adults, youth, and children—registered for this week-long event. It was the occasion for the official meeting of the Mennonite Church General Assembly and the General Conference Mennonite Church Triennial Assembly.

The theme chosen for the event was "Christ the Cornerstone." These words, taken from Ephesians 2:20 ("built on the foundation of the apostles and prophets, with Christ Jesus himself as the chief cornerstone") reaffirmed the church's faith in Jesus Christ as the risen Savior and Lord of our lives. It was felt that this theme, more than our history, will have long-range influence and implications for the future of Mennonites in North America.

Vision for Witness

In this session a "Vision for Witness" statement was approved by the General Assembly of the Mennonite Church. The statement prepared first of all by staff members of the churchwide boards to express the stance from which their work is to be done, is now broadened for use by conferences and congregations in the Mennonite Church.

The central thrust of the statement is summarized in the section entitled "The Urgent Task":

> The urgent task of the church is to witness that Jesus Christ is the only Lord and Savior of the world, that the one who raised him from the dead is the only true and living God, and that the Spirit who filled him dwells in the community of believers and is the firstfruit of the new creation.
> The vision for this witness needs to be revived. Too often this witness has been merely assumed by the church rather than actively proclaimed.
> Mennonite Church leaders in congregations, conferences, and churchwide agencies need to recover the vision and focus on the witness which brings people to faith and commitment to Jesus Christ.
> This vision has important implications for churchwide agencies, congregational life, and the personal lifestyle and discipleship of all the people of God.

One of the ways in which emphasis will be given to this statement will be the Mennonite Church participation in a Brethren/Mennonite Evangelism Event scheduled for April 1985. This 1985 event is being planned by representatives of the Mennonite Church, General Conference Mennonite Church, Mennonite Brethren, Brethren in Christ, and Church of the Brethren, and other Mennonite and Brethren groups who will be invited to participate. It will be somewhat similar to what was known as Probe 72, an earlier inter-Mennonite event with emphasis on evangelism and witness.

A Call to Faithful Stewardship

The statement "A Call to Faithful Stewardship" was also approved by the General Assembly of the Mennonite Church in its 1983 session. The statement, prepared by the Stewardship Task Force, is a first-time formal, concise statement of the church on the stewardship of its total resources. The statement is addressed to all members of the Mennonite Church as

A. A call to receive gratefully

That all members recognize and acknowledge God as the owner and giver of all they are and all they have.

B. A call to manage faithfully

That all members adopt modest standards of living.

That all members be good stewards of the resources which they use (spending, borrowing, investing, saving, insurance, business, etc.).

C. A call to share generously, "Firstfruits 10 Plus"

That all members rediscover and adopt the firstfruits tithe as a minimum standard for proportionate giving.

That all members volunteer a portion of their time and their abilities for service in the church at home and/or abroad.

That all members plan for the final distribution of their resources by writing wills and including the church along with family members.

"A Call to Faithful Stewardship" will receive special emphasis in the Mennonite Church during the 1983-85 biennium. Stewardship staff leaders from the General Board, Board of Congregational Ministries, and Mennonite Mutual Aid are teaming together to give leadership to this emphasis in the church. While launched in this biennium, most of the work will be done in the following five or ten years.

Bylaws Changes

Changes in the Bylaws of the Mennonite Church were approved by the General Assembly in its 1983 session. Most of the changes focused on the elimination of a regional style of churchwide structure and the recognition of conferences as the main administrative structure of our church life. Even though regions have been formally eliminated, conferences in any area still have the option of relating to each other and working together in a formal way.

The congregation is recognized as the primary group in our church life. Each congregation is encouraged to relate to other congregations and the church at large by affiliating with a conference.

There is a growing desire for more involvement by the congregation in the mission and decision-making of the church at both the conference and churchwide level. In most conferences there are congregational representatives, ordained and lay persons, involved as delegates and on committees. At the General Assembly there are only conference delegates and no congregational delegates. Some concern is being expressed that this representation is too indirect and that it would be better to have direct representation from the congregation to General Assembly. This idea needs further study as to the effect it would have on the conference and whether a much larger General Assembly could function as effectively.

Inter-Mennonite Activity

A "Statement on Inter-Mennonite Cooperation in North America" was approved by the General Assembly in its 1983 session. It included the following statements of acknowledgment and commitment:

We acknowledge:

1. That we have a common faith in the one true God, Jesus Christ our Savior and Lord, and the Holy Spirit.
2. That we are part of one spiritual ancestry, many of whose forebears came to this continent in search of freedom and worship and with the desire to live a life of peace in obedience to Jesus Christ.
3. That we have been separated by our cultural backgrounds and have gone our own ways and have allowed commitments to our respective structures to keep us apart from one another.
4. That in recent years the Spirit of God has been bringing us together in fellowship and common tasks, in many ways and places, with some problems but many joys. Particularly have we experienced this as the church has reached out in ministries of mission and compassion.

We commit ourselves:

1. To be open to the leading of the Spirit in unfolding ways of loving one another, receiving from one another, supporting one another in a united witness so that we can better testify to other Christians and to the world that we are together disciples of Jesus.

2. To support congregations which have affiliated with more than one denomination in order to manifest the unity they have experienced in the wider Mennonite church through Christ.
3. To encourage area conferences to seek additional ways of working together cooperatively, seeking wholeness in ministry, including the ministries of evangelism, service, peace, justice, nurture and to affirm exploration of forming area inter-Mennonite conferences.
4. To work intentionally and sensitively in programs and on issues of common concern to the conferences.
5. To relate to each other in ways which will strengthen fellowship and participation among all Mennonite groups.
6. To form an inter-Mennonite committee representing Mennonite and Brethren in Christ denominations to explore steps of cooperation at the binational level.
7. To support similar types of Mennonite meetings as has occurred here at Bethlehem 83.

We move forward with gratitude for the unity of the Spirit we have experienced and in expectation of an unfolding of God's leading as we seek to walk together in his ways.

Conclusion

Our future as a Mennonite Church and our ability to "keep the unity of the Spirit" will depend on our focus on "Christ the Cornerstone." Within our present fellowship there is much diversity in emphasis, practice, and lifestyle. While changes are taking place within all of our circles, the rate of change is not the same. There is much concern about biblical faith and lives of Spirit-led faithfulness. Not everyone agrees on the details of what this means in every instance and for differing circumstances. This often results in suspicion and loss of trust.

A theological consultation is planned for February 27-29, 1984, in which conversations are to begin for the purpose of examining our diverse theological streams and to test them to see that they are authentic expressions of the Mennonite/Anabaptist faith as we seek to interpret the Bible in our ever-changing world.

Let us prayerfully seek the guidance of God's Spirit that the church may be faithful to its calling and that we may be able to share in the unity of the believers for which our Lord prayed.

One Hundred Years of Mission

by Wilbert R. Shenk

Although we mark the beginning of organized mission outreach by the Mennonite Church from December 1882, its roots reach back at least a generation before. From about 1850 onward various renewal movements began to penetrate Mennonite life, disturbing the status quo and raising questions about the mission of the church. As individuals and congregations experienced new vitality, they also began to press for missionary action.

During the 100 years, 1861-1960, some 587 new congregations were started in Canada and the United States. What is particularly significant is that the most important missioning agent on the home front has always been the local congregation. Numerous new groups formed as families scattered across the continent in search of economic opportunity. As district conferences became more organized, they also played their part, but the congregation proved indispensable to this growth.

Mission Moves Overseas, 1899

Just before the turn of the century, concerned members of the Mennonite Church organized a board for foreign missions. Widespread famine in India, 1896-98, added urgency to the sending of missionaries in 1899. In 1906 the Mennonite Church joined together home and overseas mission programs to form one board. Until 1971 churchwide and district mission boards were typically called "Board of Missions and Charities," signifying the holding together of ministries of evangelism and compassion, word and deed. By 1971 the word "charities" sounded archaic and the church roundly affirmed the dual focus of all Christian witness so the "and Charities" was dropped by most mission boards.

World War I and the Great Depression dealt blows to the desire to expand missions overseas. The Mennonite Church had only three missions abroad in 1940—India, Argentina, and Tanzania. But new congregations continued springing up during the 1920s and 30s. This impulse to organize new congregations received reinforcement from the Young People's Christian Associations of the three church colleges (Eastern Mennonite, Goshen, Hesston) who, year after year, sent their students to help these fledgling groups.

The earliest home missions thrust was in the rural areas such as the mountains of Virginia and West Virginia. The next phase, 1890-1910, emphasized city missions: Chicago, Youngstown, Philadelphia, and others. The period 1910-25 was a time of unrest over issues of theology and lifestyle. Mennonites emerged from this time of turmoil as rural advocates. For the next generation the churches they founded were largely in rural—often isolated—regions of North America.

World War II proved to be a powerful solvent of Mennonite isolation. Military conscription forced hundreds of young men, who might otherwise have not left their cultural enclaves, into new occupations in strange communities and with a wide assortment of people. For many, Ci-

Mission Explodes, 1945-1960

The period 1945-1960 saw an unparalleled explosion of Mennonite mission activity at home and overseas. Spurred by the slogan "Every congregation a mission outpost," this wave hit its crest by 1955 and the pace of new starts slackened somewhat through the late 1950s.

Witness among minority groups had begun with the Welsh Mountain Mission in Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, in 1898. But this effort remained one of a kind until the 1930s when a mission to Spanish-speaking peoples of Chicago started in 1932. In the aftermath of World War II mission vision broadened. The "Every congregation a mission outpost" movement included both rural and urban missions and this meant that Mennonites increasingly were meeting other ethnic groups. Black Mennonite church planters, James and Rowena Lark, not only left a string of new congregations in their wake; they also trained a new generation of urban church planters and nurturers.

Between 1945 and 1960 the Mennonite Church through its mission agencies began 26 new programs in 23 countries. In addition, Mennonite Central Committee experienced rapid expansion of its activity, first in war-devastated Euruope and then to other continents. In a few cases, such as Algeria, Cuba, and Somalia, the work was interrupted later by political developments unfriendly to the Christian church.

The decade of the 1960s tested the nerves, wisdom, and courage of many under the impact of the civil rights movement and the ill-fated Vietnam War. The church did not especially distinguish itself during this decade—reacting more than acting. Many youth turned away from the church in disillusionment. Minorities questioned whether the church really understood them and cared about their plight. Churches did not grow appreciably and the number of missionary recruits declined. The urban mission movement in North America had lost momentum by 1960. Overseas the number of new starts slowed to less than a fourth of the previous period. This was a time for consolidation and working out patterns of church life as independent churches.

Mission Mood Changes, 1970s

A noticeable change in mood came with the 1970s. The methods and approaches of the previous two decades had lost their appeal. The most rapidly growing part of the Mennonite Mennonite volunteers help in water project in a community without rain for four years (MCC photo by David Brubaker).

Pastors Sushil Khakha, Mark Kniss, and Boas Ekka surround Brother Manohar Khakha during a service of ordination in Bihar, India in 1969 (MBM photo by Paul Kauffman).

Church in North America was the Hispanic, with their continued emphasis on evangelism. The churches founded by Mennonite missions in India, Argentina, and Tanzania were now fully autonomous and mission involvement was either phased out or drastically reduced. Other churches founded in the post-World War II period were rapidly coming to maturity. Mission boards began new programs in a number of countries where no Mennonite witness had been previously.

This century of mission has reminded us that

1) It is God who builds the church, and the Holy Spirit is the primary agent of mission.

2) The church which ventures forth in missionary obedience must be willing to be converted by the gospel even as it invites others to make Jesus Christ Lord and Savior, for our understanding and our obedience are at best partial.

Geographical Directory of Congregations

This directory lists Mennonite Church congregations according to the country, state/province, and city in which they are located. Within each country (Canada, United States, and others), congregations are listed alphabetically by state/province and city. This directory includes all the Mennonite Church congregations which are listed in the "Conference and District Directory of Congregations" and the "Other Mennonite Conferences." Most of these congregations are members of district conferences; however, some ("Unaffiliated Mennonite Congregations") are not related to any district or conference. Most participate and send delegates to the General Assembly; however, some consider themselves part of the larger Mennonite church body, but choose not to participate in the programs of the General Assembly.

In addition, the directory includes all congregations affiliated with the Brethren in Christ, General Conference Mennonite, Mennonite Brethren, Evangelical Mennonite Brethren, Evangelical Mennonite Church, Evangelical Mennonite Conference of Canada, and the Evangelical Mennonite Mission Conference of Canada churches. These are integrated with the Mennonite Church congregations. Information listed about these congregations includes name, affiliation (BIC—Brethren in Christ, EMB—Evangelical Mennonite Brethren Conference, EMC—Evangelical Mennonite Church, EMCC—Evangelical Mennonite Conference of Canada, EMMC—Evangelical Mennonite Mission Conference of Canada, GC—General Conference Mennonite, and MB—Mennonite Brethren), and location, when it has been provided. Information regarding district conference organizations, bishops/overseers, and congregations is found in the "Conference and District Directory of Congregations" and "Other Mennonite Conference" sections of this volume.

The purpose of this directory is to provide information regarding the location of the meetinghouse of the congregation. It is designed to assist readers in their efforts to find or contact the congregation at its meetinghouse. Note that the location of the meetinghouse is not a mailing address. All mail should be directed to the address listed under the congregation in the "Conference and District Directory of Congregations." Persons desiring to get in touch with the pastor, or contact person of a congregation, should follow the information provided in the "Conference and District Directory of Congregations." Effort was made to secure complete and accurate information about each congregation listed. If there are errors and/or if there is data missing, please provide full information to the Editor, Mennonite Yearbook, Mennonite Publishing House, 616 Walnut Ave., Scottdale, PA 15683. areas served by field and Mennonite Foundation representatives.

Fifth: In the Mennonite Church Statistics, the table "Gains and Losses .... has been expanded to include the additional congregational data now being collected with segments of the data included by country in order to give the reader a clearer picture of the size and complexion of each conference body. The table indicates that the total membership of the Mennonite Church now stands at 114,319 in 1,354 congregations. Counting the 31,081 members in the related overseas churches, the Mennonite Church (MC) now includes 114,500 members throughout the world (see Tables II and IV). In the broader Mennonite context the Mennonite Church (MC) is a significant part of the 333,201 members (see Table VI) who comprise the Mennonite and Brethren in Christ membership in North America and the 698,300 members (see Tables II and VIII) in 130 bodies and 52 countries around the world.

The Mennonite Yearbook is a tool to facilitate the life of the Mennonite Church. The production of this volume is the result of the close and intense cooperative efforts of the staff of the Mennonite Yearbook, all of the congregations, conferences, and representatives of numerous activities, programs, projects, congregations, boards, and agencies who gathered up-to-date information and organized it in a way that benefits the whole body. To each one who assisted in this significant work we are very grateful. In the Yearbook office we owe many thanks to Debbie Cameron, who coordinated the various aspects of data collection and relationships with the production division; to Kermit Roth, Dottie Anderson, and Linda Cavanaugh, who entered all of the congregational data into the computer files; to Michelle Quinn, who set the type; to Maxine Schomer, who prepared the camera copy; to Dolores Rizza and Ruby Paul, for their careful copy editing, and many more who worked together behind the scenes to insure an accurate, useful quality volume. We regret that the data gathering and the production process took a few weeks longer this year, but we believe that the gains we will see in the future will have been worth the extra effort this year.

The 1984 Yearbook is now in your hands. Use it fully. Let us know how it feels and works. We welcome your suggestions and feedback. Our aim is to place into your hands a highly useful tool so that you can participate fully in the common life, heritage, and faith of the Mennonite Church in North America and around the world.—James E. Horsch.

Conference, District, and Area Directory of Congregations

This directory lists Mennonite Church conferences alphabetically by name of conference, area, or district. Within each one, congregations are listed alphabetically by name of congregation. Some of the conferences and districts identify with the Mennonite Church at large, but do not participate in nor send delegates to the Mennonite Church General Assembly. Note that the Eastern Pennsylvania Mennonite Church, the Beachy Amish, and the Fellowship Churches are listed in the "Other Mennonite Conference" section later in this volume.

The purpose of this directory is to provide all the information necessary to contact a given congregation by mail or phone without consulting other sections of the Yearbook. The mailing address and telephone number listed is the one designated by the congregation as their official contact. This may be the pastor's office, residence, meetinghouse, or another location or person.

The person designated as the primary contact is listed by name and carries the ministerial office code number 1. Other persons who carry active responsibility in the congregation carry the ministerial office code number 2. Ordained persons who carry district, conference, or churchwide responsibilities (number 5); those who are retired (3); those who are without congregational responsibility (4); chaplains (6); those serving as active missionaries overseas (7); and those serving as staff members of a Mennonite Church-sponsored-or-related board, agency, or program (8) are listed in the "Ministerial Directory" only.

Information regarding the meetinghouse (location, telephone, etc.) is provided in the "Geographical Directory of Congregations" section of this volume. An example of a complete congregational listing is as follows:

Church Communities

Church communities is a broad designation for active Anabaptist-Mennonite Church-communities within the Anabaptist-Mennonite movement. This list was compiled by Keith Harder, Fellowship of Hope, 414 W. Wolf, Elkhart, IN 46515 (219-294-1416). Communities listed relate in a variety of ways to the Mennonite Church, as well as other churches and movements. Most communities follow a multiple-shared pattern of leadership.

Directory of Overseas Mennonite Churches

(Related to the Mennonite Church)

This directory lists those overseas Mennonite churches which emerged out of the mission efforts conducted by the Mennonite Board of Missions, Eastern and Conservative Mennonite Board of Missions as well as other conference mission boards and commissions. These overseas churches, though independent, maintain continuing fraternal ties to the Mennonite Church in North America. Church bodies are listed alphabetically by name of country. Included in this listing is the leadership programs and statistical information for each body. Information regarding congregations and ministers may be secured from the church office secretary. In addition the fraternal mission board may be of assistance in gathering this information.

Directory of Mennonite Church Organizations and Related Ministries

The churchwide mission of the Mennonite Church is carried out through the boards listed below. These are supported by contributions from the membership, with exception that the program of the Mennonite Mutual Aid Board is supported by enrollment in their services and the program of the Mennonite Publication Board is supported by purchases of books, curriculum materials, and periodials.

The 1984 combined budget of the churchwide agencies is $9,406,016. The average per member contribution needed by each of the agencies is as follows: Mennonite Board of Congregation Ministries, $7.50; Mennonite Board of Education, $2.25; Mennonite Board of Missions, $74.50; seminaries, $10.50, colleges, $25.00, Mennonite Church General Board, $4.25; minority education, $4.75. This brings the total per member average giving goal to $128.75.

Inter-Mennonite agencies approved for churchwide support include Mennonite Central Committee, up to $12.50 per member (to be adjusted by each congregation in proportion to the amounts contributed and sent directly by individuals to MCC) and Mennonite World Conference, $1.00 per member.

GENERAL INFORMATION AND STATISTICS

Date founded: 1905

Purpose and function: The primary role of the Mennonite Board of Education is to consider Mennonite Church educational objectives and to provide for the best use of personnel and financial resources in meeting these objectives. It is responsible to the church for the operation of Hesston and Goshen colleges and Goshen Biblical Seminary. In relation to these schools, the Mennonite Board of Education:

—appoints the presidents and overseer board members;
—establishes broad basic policies;
—reviews and approves institutional goals and objectives, long-range program and budget planning, new academic programs;
—makes specific policy decisions as needed, especially on relationships among Mennonite educational institutions;
—holds title to capital assets of these schools;
—works with Mennonite Church General Board in communicating financial needs of the schools to the church.

The Mennonite Board of Education entered into a three-year covenant relationship with Eastern Mennonite College and Seminary effective July 1, 1979. This was extended by action of the Eastern Mennonite College Board of Trustees and the Mennonite Board of Education for up to two years pending development of a more fully-defined relationship. The Board of Education has the following covenant functions in its relationship with Eastern Mennonite College and Seminary:

—approving long-range planning for programs, facilities, and budget projections, as developed by EMC's planning process;
—authorizing all programs of study as developed by EMC's planning process;
—establishing broad basic policies and making specific policy decisions in such areas as promotion, interpretation, student solicitation, fund-raising, askings, and capital development;
—consultation with respect to and approval of appointment of president.

The nomination and appointment of Eastern Mennonite College trustees and holding of title to corporate assets are not changed by the covenant agreement.

The Mennonite Board of Education works in a coordinating and consulting relationship with the 11 high schools of the Mennonite Secondary Education Council and with the 18 schools of the Mennonite Elementary Education Council.

The Board meets quarterly, with the annual meeting in December.

Fiscal year: July 1—June 30

1984 Special Days: Church School Day, February 26; Back to School Day, August 26

1983-84 Budget: $249,000. Additional funds in the amount of $61,400 are handled for the High-Aim program and $174,000 for college and seminary minority education

Staff: Full-time equivalent professional staff of 4.7

GENERAL INFORMATION AND STATISTICS

Date founded: 1882 as Mennonite Evangelizing Committee; incorporated in Ohio in 1906 as Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities

Purpose statement: In joyful response to God's forgiving grace, Christ's redeeming ministry, and the Spirit's empowering presence, the Mennonite Board of Missions seeks to lead and enable the Mennonite Church,through its conferences and congregations, to fulfill its evangelizing mission by proclaiming hope and wholeness for all people in the kingdom of our Lord; sharing God's love in Christ with alienated persons through our lives, witness, and service; calling people to repentance, faith, and discipleship in caring communities around the world.

Staff and workers: Includes a full-time worker corps of over 450—including some 58 staff members at Elkhart, IN, and 25 at Harrisonburg, VA; 130 workers overseas in 23 countries; and more than 120 VSers.

Publications: Mission Focus, a quarterly for mission leaders and planners; Sent, a bimonthly about the people and work of MBM, inserted in Gospel Herald; Feedback, a bimonthly newsletter for young adult contact persons; In Search, a bimonthly newsletter for young adults; Signing, a bimonthly newsletter coordinated by Deaf Ministries

Finances: The contributions budget for fiscal year ending January 31, 1984 was $5,364,000.

Fiscal year: February 1—January 31

Annual meeting of Board: November

Mission months: Spring Missions Month—March, Fall Missions Month—November

GENERAL INFORMATION AND STATISTICS

Date of organization: 1920

Purpose and function: MCC is the cooperative relief and service agency of 17 North American Mennonite and Brethren in Christ churches and conferences. Central for Mennonites is Christ's call for Christians to reflect the compassion of Jesus, teach the good news to the poor, proclaim liberty for the captives and recovery of sight for the blind, and set at liberty those who are oppressed. Community development, peacemaking, and material aid are carried on "in the name of Christ" in response to Christ's command to teach all nations the way of discipleship, love and peace.

Publications: MCC Contact (formerly Women's Activity Letter), Intercom, Peace Section Newsletter, Washington Memo, Jottings, Committee on Women's Concerns Report.

Notes

[1] Full-time students, actual count; Conrad Grebel College includes resident, associate, and day students.

[2] As reported by pastors; corrected for non-reporting congregations. "Totals" obtained by the correction method, not by adding. May include some part-time in addition to full-time students.

[3] Contains congregations with dual membership in two Mennonite Church conferences. First-column figures include only those congregations not holding major membership in other conferences. Students from these congregations may be counted in one or the other of the conferences.

[4] Western Ontario and Ontario and Quebec conferences combined for estimated college-age population.

Notes

[1] All data on this table are for youth and students from North American Mennonite Church congregations; students from other Mennonite groups (including overseas conferences) and non-Mennonite students are not included in these numbers. The "Estimated College-Age Population" column includes only youth from major Mennonite Church conferences (see list of conferences on Table XVIII).

[2] Numbers for Mennonite colleges and seminaries are for full-time students only; numbers for other colleges and universities may include some part-time students.

Notes

In addition to the Mennonite Church students of the Table XIX, the data in this table includes all other students. The first column for each school lists full-time students, and in the second column part-time students are added.

Some of the schools, especially the seminaries, have a significant ministry to students not taking course work for credit. These audit and extension students are not included in the numbers reported here.

[2] "Miscellaneous" recognizes contributions from individuals whose conference affiliation is unknown and from Church Communities.

Mennonite Church Ministerial Directory

This directory lists all ordained persons who are members of the Mennonite Church in North America. (Note: Ordained members of the Beachy Amish Church, the Eastern Pennsylvania Mennonite Church, and the Fellowship Churches are found in separate directories in the section "Other Mennonite Conferences.") The information provided for each person is as follows: name; address; telephone; office and function; date of birth; date of ordination as deacon, minister, and bishop; congregational name and number (if person carries function No. 1); conference affiliation. See example below. Where information is not available or not applicable, it is omitted. Codes used in this listing are noted below.

Every effort has been made to secure complete and accurate information for each name. However, the situation of a person may change or the information was not available at the time when it was gathered. If there are errors and/or there is information missing, please send the correct and/or full information to: Editor, Mennonite Yearbook, Mennonite Publishing House, 616 Walnut Ave., Scottdale, PA 15683. Your help will make the Mennonite Yearbook a more useful and reliable tool for each member of the church in North America and around the world.

Readings in Mennonite Missions

Anabaptism and Mission, by Wilbert R. Shenk, editor. A new collection of essays linking Anabaptist understandings of the gospel with the primacy and practice of Christian mission. Herald Press, fall, 1984.

The Authentic Witness, by C. Norman Kraus. The church's mission is to be an authentic community of witness to the world. Kraus carefully spells out what it means to be such a community in mission. Herald Press, paper, $5.95 ($7.15 in Canada).

Evangelizing Neopagan North America, by Alfred C. Krass. Evangelism invites people to become a new creation, disciples who model kingdom values. Krass rethinks the evangelistic task, urging us to a fuller vision of the missionary calling of God's people at home. Herald Press, paper, $9.95 ($11.95 in Canada).

Gospel versus Gospel, by Theron F. Schlabach. This study interprets an emerging movement in mission which began in the Mennonite Church about 1860 to spur the church toward greater missionary obedience. Herald Press, $14.95 ($17.95 in Canada).

Mennonite Church in India, 1897-1962, by John A. Lapp. A record of the establishment of the first national church stemming from the overseas outreach of the Mennonite Church in North America. Herald Press, $8.95 ($10.75 in Canada)

Missions and the Peace Witness, by Robert L. Ramseyer, editor. Experienced church leaders combine perspectives—biblical, historical, theological, missiological—to show how peace and reconciliation are an integral part of the gospel. Herald Press, paper $4.95 ($5.95 in Canada).

Missions, Evangelism, and Church Growth, by C. Norman Kraus, editor. A symposium on church growth from a believers' church perspective with insights into both theology and practical work in America's inner cities. Herald Press, paper $5.95 ($7.15 in Canada).

Mission Focus: Current Issues, by Wilbert R. Shenk, editor. A compilation which probes biblical and theological foundations of Christian mission, describes issues which arise as the church engages in mission, and examines experiences arising out of contemporary missionary action. Herald Press, paper $11.95 ($14.55 in Canada).

Pilgrimage in Mission, by Donald R. Jacobs. An update of Mennonite missiology in light of a half-century of cross-cultural missions which anticipates an optimistic, enthusiastic future. Herald Press, paper $6.50 ($7.80 in Canada).

Something Meaningful for God, by Cornelius J. Dyck. A collection of the experiences of 15 individuals and couples through decades of service through Mennonite Central Committee at home and around the world. Herald Press, paper, $[illegible]anada).
